COMMANDING OFFICER
INFORMATION GROUP
II MARINE EXPEDITIONARY FORCE

FAMILY READINESS POLICY STATEMENT

Every Marine, Sailor, and Civilian within the MEF Information Group is responsible and accountable for his or her personal and family readiness. Family readiness is an integral part of operational readiness.

Our ability to accomplish the mission is directly related to the readiness of our families. The Unit and Personal Family Readiness Program (U&PFRP) will ensure our families are prepared for the challenges associated with deployments through a series of initiatives that include but are not limited to:

- Building an enduring partnership between the command, our personnel and their families, and the Marine Corps Community Services.
- An effective and proactive official communication program that aggressively seeks to prevent misinformation and rumors.
- Educating and offering tools and resources that matches the needs of our personnel and their families with available resources.
- Providing support to our single Marines and Sailors and out-reach to their families around the country.
- Ensuring that confidentiality policies are strictly followed.

It is not a matter of “if” but a mindset of “when” we will be called to deploy for the next contingency. The world security environment is ever changing and the Nation expects us to respond rapidly and effectively. We will ensure our Marines, Sailors, civilians, and their families are ready when the “911 Force” moves towards the sound of the guns.

Should you or any member of your family require assistance please do not hesitate to contact the II MIG Deployment Readiness Coordinator, Mr. Michael Cline at: (910) 376-6599 or by email at: michael.e.cline1@usmc.mil.
